Hey friends, wow, so it's December already and we're on the edge of seeing out 2022 with all the fun and festivities.

Our small team at PinkUK Towers wishes you a fantastic festive season and the successful, glorious and very PINK 2023 you deserve.

Our LGBTQ+ listings service is about bringing you what you need to know.

We scan constantly for new Pride festivals, new venues, new holiday options and other events or projects that you would like to be listed. We would appreciate hearing any suggestions on how to expand our listings information. This includes some sexy hunk calendars from our friends at Bent.com.

our solidarity with all LGBTQ+ communities and their organisations who do so much to protect, care for and inform people about the risks of HIV/AIDS around the world.

Our sympathies to all affected by the shooting in an LGBTQ+ club in Colorado, USA, killing five people. Hate speech fuels prejudice and violence against people who are just different.

It would help save lives if politicians of all political colours spoke out more than they do against such crimes.
With the soccer World

Cup in full swing and with some great matches already played, we feel world soccer organisation FIFA has let LGBTQ+ people down by opting for a country where homosexual acts risk years of imprisonment. Check out our opinion piece on the safety of LGBTQ+ people in Qatar by PinkUK founder Dave. All this suggests we should stand proud, enjoy and value our freedoms — never taking them for granted. We hope you have a fantastic, safe and a perfectly PINK festive season.

We've featured Fern Howe Guest House before and with good reason. You'll find Fern Howe in the picturesque village of Braithwaite, Keswick, in England's beautiful Lake District National Park. Near Derwent Water and Bassenthwaite Lake, the management says guest house is the perfect location for families, cyclists, walkers, photographers and artists who want to experience the National Park's scenery. The village has a quaint charm with three pubs, a shop and great local walks. The guest-house offers dramatic views of the Fells (hills). Rooms have en-suites; booked on a bed & breakfast basis with fridge, TV (Freeview) + complementary room toiletries.
