PinkUK.com LGBTQ+ guide for the UK & worldwide

Hi, PinkUK.com news on the UK and worldwide LGBTQ+ scene at a time we need it

Colourful crew at Worthing Pride, 2019

We hope you are managing to enjoy the summer despite all the restrictions and postponement of Prides with the pandemic. Many Prides are still holding digital events such as Brighton and Hove Pride today 31 July and Saturday and Sunday.

For holiday goers, please be aware when booking breaks abroad, listen to the news for Covid-19 outbreaks in case countries place new restrictions, for example Luxembourg has added new self-isolate requirement. Finally you can see our previous news letters in PDF

Love and Pink respect Dave and the PinkUK team

Since our last newsletter was published LGBTQ+ pubs and bars, Bed and Breakfasts, and hotels are reopening with safe measures across the UK. We wish all our business friends our best wishes in what may be challenging trading conditions.

That narrowly re-elected Polish President Andrzej Duda has called LGBTQ+ activists

"more harmful than communism". President Duda also said he agreed with another right-wing politician who stated that "LGBT [sic] is not people, it's an ideology." There are also 'LGBTQ+ free zones' in some districts of Poland. News courtesy of euronews.com (Pic Jakub Szymczuk)

Featured holiday let

Doonbank Cottage Bothy

Whether you're looking for a one night business stop-over, a couple of nights to attend a wedding at the Brig O'Doon, a romantic getaway or a one or two week self catering holiday break, our Bothy offers an exclusive, flexible and private accommodation base for you.

It is a beautifully presented two storey, one bedroomed detached house.

It is very spacious, quiet and peaceful and set within four and a half acres of secluded private woodland forming part of Doonbank Cottage's grounds.

The river Doon forms half a mile as Doonbank's eastern boundary.
