Costumes on show at Brighton and Hove's Pride Parade, August 2019

A bit of hanky-panky?

The handkerchief code (also known as the 'hanky code') historically was a colour-coded system, usually employed among gay male casual-sex seekers or 'BDSM' practitioners in the United States, Canada, Australia and Europe, to indicate sexual preferences, what kind of sex they are seeking, and whether they are a top/dominant or bottom/submissive.

Book your staycation

Under UK Government health guidelines, pubs and bars, hotels, B&Bs and other holiday accommodation have been allowed to open since 4th July. Some venues are still preparing to reopen. As travelling abroad may be restricted in some countries and not allowed for the rest of the summer, many people in the UK, and other countries, will be taking 'staycations'. We advise to book your holiday soon. You can see all our holiday categories in our holiday section
